Archiles

Digital and fully automated processing of accounting documents

Do you want to fully digitize and automate the process of receiving accounting documents in the company? Did you know that also in our region, there is a service that automates the processing of documents via software?
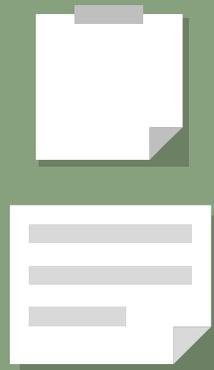

What is accounting automation?

Let`s define the problem first...

Collecting documents, manual data entry into accounting, adding general ledger numbers to invoices, receipts, bills and delivery notes is real and everyday issue. It consumes massive amount of time, costs and last, but not least creates frustration.

Online platform Archiles effectively solves the problem thanks to automatic data recognition, extraction, providing general ledger numbers on the entries and sending them into your ERP or accounting software.

Saving time and money

Archiles can save 60% - 80% of your time and costs depending on the number of documents and internal processes.

Thanks to automation of accounting documents, you can save time for the new clients and other important tasks.
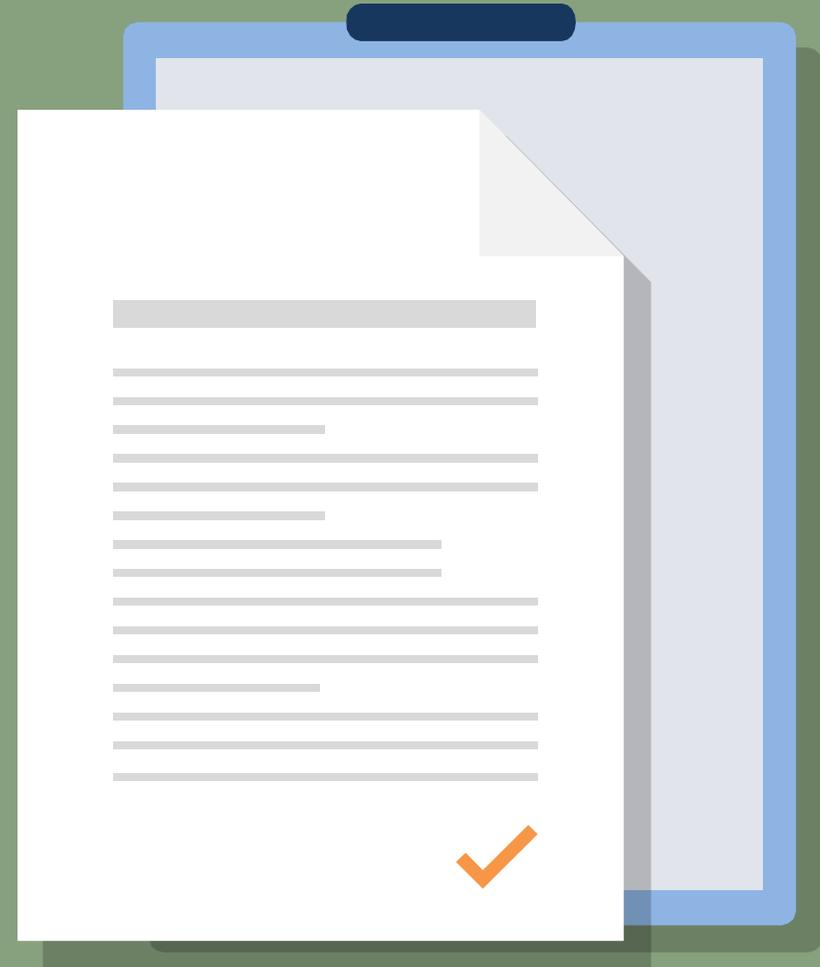

Archiles provides:

- Automatic data entry of receipts and invoices into accounting or ERP system
- Automatic general ledger numbers add-on
- Digital archive of accounting documents
- Automatic due date tracking on invoices
- Duplicity control and the IBAN control
- Remote document approval
- Comfortable invoice payment
- Cash flow analyses
- Mobile application to upload the bills by taking photo with your smartphone
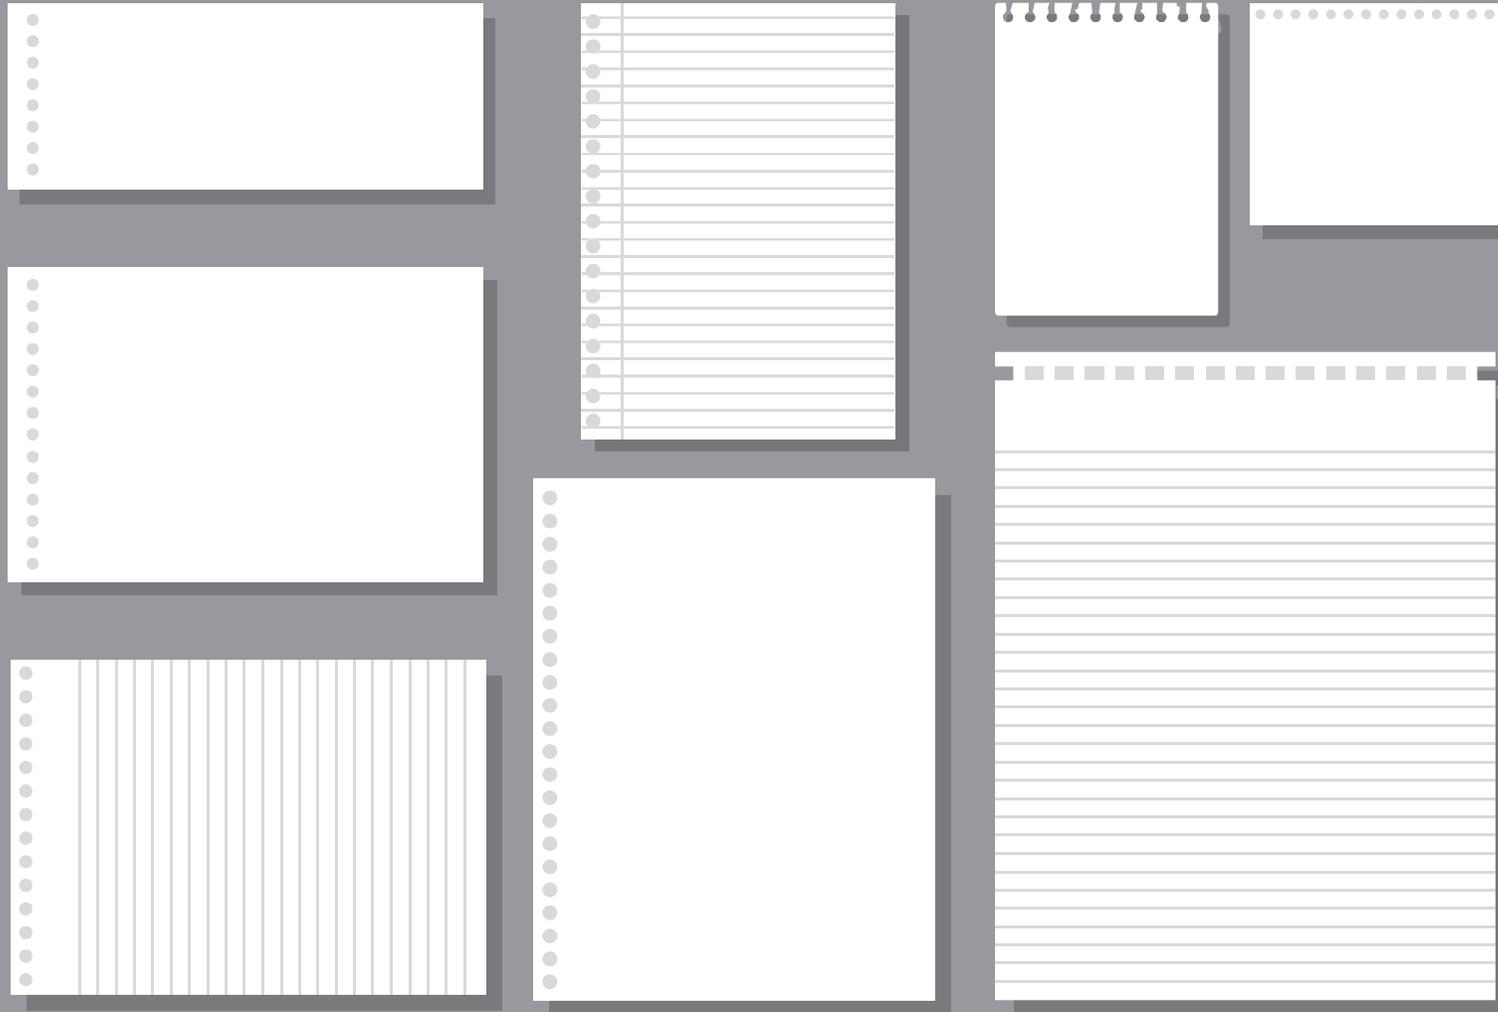

How does Archiles work?

Just upload your documents via browser, mobile application or send them by e-mail to Archiles, and it will return the extracted relevant data from the documents.

If you do not have your documents in electronic form, just snap the photo of the document by using mobile application or use batch scanning via scanner with paper feeder.

Archiles can automatically process variety of documents , formats and sizes, e.g. invoices, receipts, delivery notes.

Document batch upload

Archiles supports batch upload option in a single PDF file. You can upload many invoices or receipts in one PDF file, or many receipts on a single page. Archiles will automatically recognize and separate them, extract relevant entries, add general ledger numbers and export the data to your ERP or accounting system.

Thanks to Drag & Drop function you can easily upload the whole directory of documents.

E-mail upload

Just set the forwarding rule in your inbox from your employees or clients directly into Archiles and you do not have to spend a lot of time on emails and document handling.

Every company has it`s individual e-mail address, so the documents won`t get mixed.

You can also snap photo of you receipt and upload it directly to Archiles.
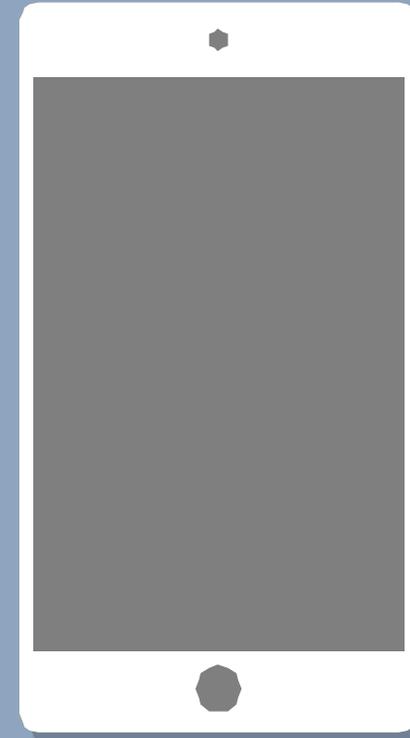

Mobile app document upload

Take a picture of your invoice or receipt via our mobile app and Archiles will take the rest of the job.

Documents will be automatically uploaded, categorized, extracted and booked.

It`s an effective tool especially during your business travels, where you can digitally record your documents and send them directly to ERP.
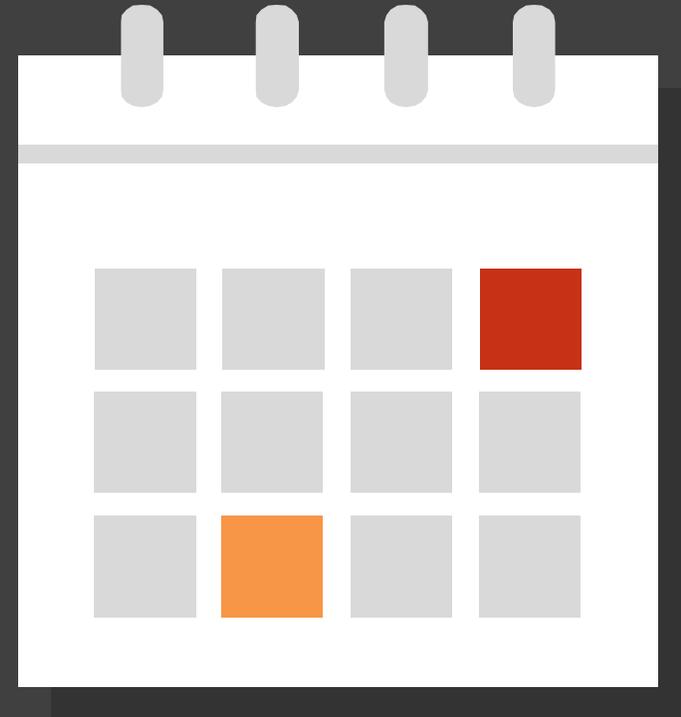

Digital archive

Are you searching for specific document or entry in analog folder? Do you have to keep in mind the due dates of your invoices?

Not anymore! All the relevant data from the documents are accessible in a few seconds from anywhere and anytime.

Combined view on original documents and their data enables you to see everything on one screen.

Notifications when exceeding the due dates of your invoices.

Accessibility of your documents and data

Wherever you are, you have always access to your documents and data using internet connection.

Security and availability

In the process of creating the service, we have put high emphasis on security of the data in our platform. All the data are encrypted, backed up and stored in the most modern datacenters.

Archiles customers

Archiles is daily used by the companies and individuals who know that digitalization of accounting processes is a rapidly accelerating trend.

They perceive Archiles as a competetive advantage, which enables them to save time and provides enriched information to their departments and customers.

Thanks to Archiles and eletronic document workflow, they are able to acquire and operate more customers, save internal costs and boost their business.

Contact

If you are interested in Archiles and you also want to have more effective and modernized accounting processes, we will be happy to assist you with this journey.
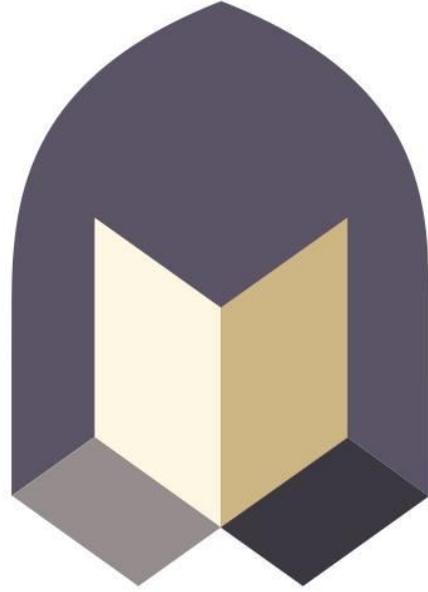

Please reach out to us via email:

support@archiles.sk

Or directly on +421 911 474 400

Thank you

www.archiles.eu

ARCHILES